STEEL LIGHT TOWER FOR HOLLAND HARBOR.

On Saturday, the government light house supply boat, the Alice M. Gill, arrived in port, carrying the new steel tower that is to serve as light house for Holland harbor during the next few years. There was a heavy sea running and the boat was obliged to find shelter in the harbor, as it was impossible to unload the heavy steel structure on the piers. On Tuesday the lighthouse tender managed to get along side the piers and the unloading took place. The concrete foundation has already been completed and the old wooden structure that has staunchly withstood every gale during its years of service, will soon be replaced by this tower of modern times. Lighthouse keeper M. Van Regenmorter will no doubt, quietly appreciate the change.

NEW FIRM.
Bert Slagh and Henry R. Brink have bought the stock of the New York Racket Store and will go into partnership in the paint, wall paper, stationery and book business. Mr. Slagh has worked up a nice trade at his place on South Central Ave., but this will give him a chance to greatly enlarge it. Mr. Brink has for a long time been in the book business and is thoroughly competent to take charge of that department. Success to the new firm.

IN NEW YORK, TOO
It's Said Michigan Central is After Pere Marquette.

New York, Nov. 5.—The New York Commercial says: Pere Marquette stock is again active and commanding attention. The advances have been sufficient and of a character to cause doubt concerning the sincerity of the explanation given by parties in a position to know what is going on and who have said that the underlying cause is the prosperous condition of property and the outlook for its future. The natural assumption is that the Vanderbilts want the road and will get it. It comes from a source entitled to credence that those who hold the controlling stock have reached an agreement for the transfer of the property to the Michigan Central. If common report is true matters have progressed to what is substantially the final stage of the deal and formal announcement of the change of ownership may be looked for any day.

SUICIDE FOR LOVE.
Mortimer Nistle, who was employed at VanDrezer's restaurant last summer, committed suicide a couple of weeks ago at Albany, N. Y., by jumping from a canal boat. The cause is said to have been a love affair. Wednesday the young man's father was in Holland on his way home to Chicago, from New York, whither he had been summoned by dispatch telling of the death of the young man, who was identified by certain letters which he carried with him.

RURAL MAIL BOXES.
In accordance with the following instructions received from headquarters at the local postoffice, rural mail boxes will hereafter be on sale at local stores, the same as other commodities and carriers are not allowed to solicit orders or act as agents:

"In view of the criticisms and complaints that have been received at the department, it has been decided that postmasters as well as rural letter carriers must not act as agents, solicitors or collectors for letter box manufacturers. The patrons are to have complete liberty in selecting boxes from the list of 14, as given. No influence in favor of any particular box is to be brought to bear on them by either the carrier or the postmaster."

SPARKS FROM THE TROLLEY WIRE.

The Detroit Construction Company does not expect to complete the double tracks from Holland to Grand Rapids until next June. There are still some deep cuts to be made and a number of miles of track must still be laid.

On Monday a new schedule for the cars running between Holland and Grand Rapids was instituted. The first car now leaves Holland for Grand Rapids at six o'clock in the morning and every hour thereafter. Passengers can leave Grand Rapids for Holland as late as 11 p. m.

Car No. 22, the handsomest car on the line, was placed into service between Holland and Grand Rapids on Tuesday. This car has plush seats and is considerably longer than the other cars.

The dispatching of cars is all done over the private telephones of the company, booths being placed at several points along the line, where conductors can tell headquarters of their whereabouts and receive instructions. Arthur Ward, formerly in the company's employ but late of Flint, has charge of this part of the office work.

Thirty signs with the legend "Cars stop here" have been placed along the line between Holland and Grand Rapids.

Grandville claims to be experiencing a boom as the result of the new electric line.

FOR THE MUSKEGON LINE.
All But Six Miles of the Road Already Laid.

Provided one or two sources of delay are cleared away in the meantime, there is no very good reason why the Grand Rapids, Grand Haven & Muskegon Interurban railway should not be operating cars between Grand Rapids and Muskegon within a dozen weeks. The chances are, however, that it will not be operating quite so soon, and it is due to the failure of the electrical machinery manufacturers to get the goods delivered.

Everything is practically in readiness for the start except the main generators, and they have not yet left the shops. The power house is entirely completed, and it was lighted by the exciter dynamos, operating for a test. The engines are all in place and the boilers, engines and other machinery have all been tested. The shafts stand out from the big engines ready for the armatures to be adjusted upon them. The machine shop and car barns, too, are completed.

Four of the new cars have been shipped. They will be delivered at the car barns at Fruitport, and will be held there until they are needed.

As to the main line, it is completed every foot of the way from the Grand Rapids city limits on West Leonard street to a point six miles from Muskegon, with the exception of a small break at the Grand Trunk crossing at Berlin. The Grand Trunk will be crossed over a bridge, and the timbers and construction material for this, which were ordered last June, were delivered this day. Work will be commenced on it next week, and it will be hurried through. It will be only a short time before the six miles of track this side of Muskegon is laid. Up to that point the company is already running hand-cars.

GENERAL ITEMS.
It cost Allegan county $520.59 to have the equalization committee go around the county and look at the property of each township as shown on the rolls of the supervisors.—Fennville Herald.

P. M. Hendrickson is authority for the statement that common salt, at the rate of 100 pounds to the acre, will materially prevent the destructive work of insects in wheat fields. He knows from experience and says this is the best time to sow the salt.—Fennville Herald.

It is now quite safe to predict that the price of potatoes will not go below 50 cents a bushel. Grand Rapids buyers are paying 60 to 65 cents at home and 50 to 60 cents at outside points. The Michigan crop is even larger than usual and from some of the interior northern counties come stories of a yield exceeding 200 bushels to the acre. The quality of the stock is exceptionally good and it is evident from a general review of the situation that farmers and business men and all who share in the profits of the crop have good cause for self-congratulations.—Grand Rapids Herald.

WITH WALK WORMS

Secretary of the Agriculture Would Experiment in Michigan.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture proposes to make a determined effort to develop silk culture in the United States if congress gives him the $10,000 he has asked for experimental work. Secretary Wilson intends to begin his tests in several states, including Michigan and other states surrounding the great lakes. Silk is cultivated in Canada and the climate of Michigan is the same. Experiments will also be made in the South. He said: "When congress authorizes a start, I shall be ready to furnish material for experiments in silk culture. The work is nearly all done in the spring and if my plans carry, by next spring every member of congress will have fifty mulberry trees to give to his constituents."

CLAMOR FOR PEACE

PEOPLE IN BRITAIN TIRE OF THE BOER WAR.

Defeat of Last Week Converts Even the Jingoists.—Unpopularity of the Boer Campaign is Recognized.—English Fear Oom Paul's Dire Prediction Will Be Realized.—Burgers Better Fitted for Conflict Than Reported.

London, Nov. 3.—The news of the defeat suffered by British arms in south Africa last week at Brakenlaage in eastern Transvaal, followed by the report of the looting of 6,000 acclimated horses, has caused a general clamor for the end of the protracted and unprofitable boer war.

This cry for peace is no longer confined to prober elements, but is heard in the ranks of the most loyal conservatives and jingoists and secretly fostered by some of the members of the cabinet.

There is great fear that ex-President Kruger's prediction of the "sacrifice of life that will stagger humanity" will be fulfilled to the letter, unless terms are made with the burghers. It is said in diplomatic circles that a special cabinet meeting will be called this week to discuss the advisability of forestalling the threatened intervention by the powers. There is no doubt now that Lord Kitchener's army has been badly crippled and that the boers are much better equipped for a continuation of the war than has been reported.

Edgar Wallace, a correspondent of the Daily Mail, writing from Pretoria under date of Oct. 12, again protests against official optimism and declares that the war will not be ended for another year. He urges the immediate dispatch of large reinforcements.

"Even when all that is possible has been done in this direction," he says, "it will be necessary to wait grimly and not to expect any quick results."

HOW THEY VOTED

Tammany Suffers Its First Defeat in Seventeen Years.

RETURNS FROM OTHER STATES

Nash Carries Ohio By 60,000.—In All Voting States Unusually Large Votes Were Recorded, Considering Bad Weather.

New York, Nov. 6.—Seth Low, former president of Columbia university, and four years ago the citizens' union candidate for the first mayor of Greater New York, is elected the second mayor of Greater New York by a plurality ranging anywhere from 30,000 to 40,000, defeating Edward M. Shepard of Brooklyn, the democratic nominee. The campaign was an exciting one, and the vote, though somewhat less than the presidential election a year ago, was the largest ever polled in a municipal contest in this country.

In addition to the canvass for mayor public interest largely centered in the nomination by the fusionists of William Travers Jerome for district attorney and mayor Robert A. Van Wyck, by the democrats, for justice of the supreme court, were voted for only in the territory contained in New York county. Returns indicate that Jerome has been elected by a comfortable plurality, and that Mayor Van Wyck has been defeated, the latter running behind his ticket from 15,000 to 20,000.

Returns also indicate the complete triumph of Greater New York fusion ticket, Charles Vincent Fornes, the nominee of the citizens' union and the republicans for president of the board of alderman, defeating George M. Van Hoesen, the democratic nominee.

Low Greatly Pleased.

New York, Nov. 6.—Seth Low said at his home, where he was receiving election returns:

"I suppose it is safe to assume the result of the election is now assured. It bears out what my friends have anticipated, and I am very much gratified by the result. This is a pleasant outcome of a hard struggle. I appreciate heartily the splendid support the newspapers have given this movement. I think they have been a splendid and important factor in bringing about the result."

Mr. Low said that he and his wife were going to Great Barrington, where they would remain for the remainder of the week, if not for a longer time.

New York State.

Reports received from the various sections of New York state show that the republicans will retain control of the lower house of the state legislature, the number of republican and democratic assemblymen not differing materially from the figures of preceding years. In the various municipal contests from the state the most interesting elections noted were those in Albany, Troy, Rochester, Syracuse and Buffalo. In Buffalo the entire republican city and county tickets were elected, Erastus C. Knight, the state comptroller, being chosen mayor. The result in Rochester was close, but Mayor Warner's friends claim his election over the republican candidate. In Syracuse Mayor McGuire, for a number of years past the democratic mayor of the city, was defeated by the republican nominee.

Nash Elected by 60,000.

Columbus, O., Nov. 6.—Returns indicate republican gains in Cincinnati, Cleveland, Toledo, Dayton, Zanesville, Portsmouth, Canton, Springfield and other cities, the notable exception being Columbus, the home of both Gov. Nash and Col. James Kilbourne, the democratic candidate for governor. The greatest republican gains are outside of the large cities. Some of the democratic counties report the largest republican gains. A notable exception in the rural districts was found in Pike and Adams counties, which jointly elected a democratic member of the legislature for the first time in eight years. This morning the democratic state committee had no claims to make on the state ticket or legislature. Col. Kilbourne said he felt better over carrying his own, Franklin county with a democratic gain of over 3,000, than if he had been elected governor without carrying Franklin county. Chairman Dick gave out a statement that the republicans had carried the state by over 60,000, with a decisive majority in each branch of the legislature.

Republican Gain in Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 6.—Indications are that Nebraska has reaffirmed her verdict of last year in favor of the republicans. Figures, mainly from the smaller towns and country districts, showed a republican gain of four to the precinct over a year ago, when the republican majority was 3,800. If this rate is maintained, Sedgwick (rep.), for supreme court justice, will carry the state by from 6,000 to 10,000. At republican headquarters the claim is made of a republican victory in the election of the supreme court.

Results of the election in Baltimore, Nov. 6.—Returns show a tremendous falling out in the vote, both in the city and counties, and indicate that the republicans have been victorious in both the city and state, although it is impossible to give any figures because of the large number of returns. It seems highly probable that no more than 75,000 votes were polled in Baltimore, as against 100,000 cast two years ago at the last election. Chairman Goldsborough of the republican state central committee still claims to have elected his ticket, and asserts that the republicans will have a majority on joint ballot in the general assembly, while Chairman Vandiver of the democratic committee makes a like claim for his party. Massachusetts Big Vote.

Boston, Nov. 6.—Returns show no state or national issues and few local contests to arouse interest, there were more ballots cast in the state election yesterday than in any year in the history of the state. The total vote exceeded 300,000.

As usual, the republicans had no difficulty in carrying the state. W. Murray Crane of Dalton was elected governor for the third time by practically the same majority as when he first ran for the office in 1888.

The state legislature of 1902 will be strongly republican, though the democrats gained a few seats.

Virginia Democratic.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6.—Although in the election the democrats polled about 75 per cent of their vote, the result surpassed the most sanguine expectations. The democrats took little interest in the contest, and the indications now are that the democratic majority for the state ticket will be more than 25,000. The democratic majority on joint ballot in the legislature will be overwhelming. On the legislative ticket, the democrats made gains in the southwest, where they feared they were weak.

The Vote Out West.

Denver, Nov. 6.—Returns indicate the election of the democratic ticket in this (Arapahoe) county, but the large number of rejected tickets, none of which have been counted, leaves the result in doubt. Both sides claim the victory.

San Francisco, Nov. 6.—Schmitz, the union labor candidate, ran ahead of his republican and democratic competitors. His election is assured by several thousand.

Sacramento, Nov. 6.—Returns indicate election of Clark (ind.) for mayor over the regular republican and democratic nominees.

Salt Lake, Nov. 6.—Returns indicate the election of Thompson (rep.) for mayor over Leary (dem.) by about 500 plurality. The election was very quiet and apparently little over two-thirds vote was polled.

New Jersey Elects Murphy.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 6.—The returns received from all points in the state indicate that Murphy (rep.), for governor, has been elected and that the election is now simply a matter of plurality. The returns thus far received indicate that Murphy will have a large plurality in the state than Voorhees did three years ago. The republicans claim the state by 10,000. The returns thus far indicate the election of Murphy by at least 7,000.

All Democrats at Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 6.—Charles F. Granger, democratic, is elected mayor of Louisville by over 8,000. Every member of the school board of Louisville elected is a democrat. Returns and reports from all over the state indicate corresponding democratic successes.

TWO TEXAS AFFRAYS

Result in Four Fatalities and Two Serious Injuries.

Lockhart, Tex., Nov. 6.—Earl Stringfellow and Frank Hall have been killed in an affray in a saloon here. Zach Hall was wounded. Stringfellow began the shooting, which was returned by the Halls, who fired 12 bullets into him before he fell.

Austin, Tex., Nov. 6.—John Dold shot and fatally wounded John Allen, proprietor of a large gambling house here. John McMeahand, who was not a participant in the shooting, received a bullet in the head from Dold's revolver and cannot recover. Blecher Hutchins was shot by Dold, but was not seriously hurt. It is claimed that the cause of the shooting was alleged refusal to lend Dold money after the latter had lost at the gaming table.

PAN-AMERICAN CLOSED.

Lights Out in the Big Exposition; Heavy Financial Loss.

Buffalo, Nov. 4.—The Pan-American exposition ended at 12 o'clock Saturday night. At midnight President John G. Milburn pressed an electric button and the lights in the famous electric tower grew dim for the last time. Slowly, one by one, the lights on post and pinnacle and tower faded away. A corps of buglers standing in the tower sounded "taps," and one of the greatest glories of the exposition was ended.

The total number of admissions for the six months was close to 8,000,000. An average of 2,000,000 a month had been figured on by the exposition officials. The great snowstorm of last April was a severe blow to the exposition.

THIRTY PERSONS INJURED.

A Train on Monon Railway Breaks in Two and is Wrecked.

Bedford, Ind., Nov. 5.—A wreck occurred last night on the Monon track at the passenger station in this city, in which 30 persons were injured. A combination passenger and stone train, running between Bedford and Perry, Matthews & Buskirk Stone Co.'s quarries, broke in two at the intersection of the Monon and Southern Indiana roads, coming together a few minutes later with a crash. In the two passenger coaches were 100 quarrymen and officials. Of this number, no less than 30 were injured by the collision, some of them seriously, if not fatally.

Claims of Defense in Grand Rapids Boodle Scandal.

BEN. NICHOLS OUTLINES IT

Says Money Salisbury Received Was For a Purely Legitimate Fee and That All Other Money Was Returned to Taylor.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 6.—Attorney George E. Nichols outlined the defense in the trial of City Attorney Lant K. Salisbury for bribery yesterday afternoon. He said that testimony had been offered which reflected upon nearly every official connected with the city government.

"The proofs given thus far," he said, "have been from men who are not citizens of Grand Rapids, but who came here, according to their own confession, to secure a valuable contract by corrupt methods, and failed. The defense will endeavor to show by the mayor, the members of the board of public works, the council, by Mr. McGarry and Mr. Salisbury, that none of the statements made by these witnesses are true; we will put upon the stand Mr. Taylor, the man who these people claim was robbed, and he will say he has not lost one cent, and I think will show it."

"Garman went to this man, representing he had an option upon the hydraulic company; he wanted a loan of $112,000 upon the bonds of this company, and Taylor believed the representations made by Garman were true."

Cameron, who was Mr. Garman's agent, first came and secured the legal services of McGarry. McGarry thought he should have a retainer and that services of that magnitude should be worth $10,000; Garman gave McGarry a draft for $1,000 for a retainer fee, and this was credited the same day upon McGarry's books. This was in June. We shall show there was absolutely no arrangement between McGarry and this respondent and that the statements of the New York witnesses were absolutely without foundation.

"We will show that, in placing money in Grand Rapids, Mr. Taylor was but carrying out the terms of his contract; the $25,000 was to meet necessary expenses, legal fees and pay for necessary options. The $17,500 was taken by Mr. Taylor, placed in a satchel and was taken to New York. The remainder was left for McGarry as an attorney fee and for payment of purely legitimate expenses." Mr. Nichols said it would be shown that Taylor did no booting and had no intention of doing any.

H. A. Taylor was then put on the stand as the first witness. He is a young man of 25 years of age and managed the estate left by his father. He said he never met MacLeod or Salisbury until his present visit to the city. He first became interested in the water enterprise here through an application for a loan of $112,000 on the hydraulic company securities. Then it was represented to him that the hydraulic company could be purchased and that the city could be prevailed upon to guarantee $4,000,000 bonds and award the company a contract to supply the city with Lake Michigan water.

Another Big Elevator Destroyed at Port Huron.

Port Huron, Mich., Nov. 5.—For the second time within a year Port Huron has suffered an elevator loss, and last night two large adjoining elevators of the Botsford Elevator company were razed to the ground by flames. The steamer Spokane was unloading grain from Chicago at the time the fire caught in the leg of the elevator and spread with great rapidity. It looked as though the Spokane was doomed, but sailors went to work with axes and cut leg away and the Spokane steamed away with the leg in her hold. In the elevator were stored 270,000 bushels of grain, but it could not be saved, although firemen made frantic efforts.

Considering the weather and the breakage of the Poe lock, business was phenomenal. The total freight to Nov. 1, for the season, is 24,543,610, an excess over last year of 1,500,000 tons. It is now predicted that the 28,000,000 mark will be reached.

100,000 ACRES NEEDED

Says Capt. B. Boutelle For Sugar Beet Culture in 1902.

Bay City, Mich., Nov. 5.—Capt. Ben Boutelle, one of the pioneers of Michigan's beet sugar industry, who is interested in the Michigan factory and in the Bay City, West Bay City, Valley, Saginaw, Marine City, Mt. Clemens, Wallaceburg, Eaton and Lansing beet sugar factories, says:

"Michigan's 17 factories will next year require 5,000 acres each, in sugar beets, and still there is room for triple expansion. For if 100,000 acres will be devoted to sugar beets in Michigan in 1902, it would still require the product of 300,000 acres to supply enough sugar for use in this state alone. Fifteen million people could find work in this country, to produce from our sugar beets, all the sugar consumed by the people of these United States, annually."

It is believed that all the guests were gotten out, although many of them had to escape in their night robes. A. W. Brooks of Ionia was taken out unconscious, but may recover.

Drying Up Dairy Cows.

Many farmers are thinking of turning their cows dry. Some have begun to do so already, perhaps in order that they may winter them more cheaply, says F. E. Uhl in Kansas Farmer. Should this be done? The answer to this question depends upon the circumstances. Many Kansas cows can no doubt be turned dry with profit to their owners, but it would be folly to dry up all of them. The best cow, the young, promising heifer, should not share the fate of her beefy sisters.

Let us note the cows that may yield better returns from eating only coarse roughness. Those that are unprofitable at best, yielding less than enough to pay for feed and care in an ordinary year, the slow and hard milker, may as well eat at the second table unless they have lately or soon will come fresh. The fairly good cow could be dried off in many cases after she has given the most of her flow for the year. The beefy cow must certainly take a back seat.

There are some cows, however, which should have the best, and these are the best cows, together with the heifers, which may become best cows. Cows which usually pay well for feed and care should be well fed even at some sacrifice, especially if they are fresh late in summer or fall.

Ripening Cream.

Cream should be ripened at a temperature of 70 to 85 degrees F., owing to the length of time in ripening and the amount of acidity when started, says A. J. Myers in Kansas Farmer. The texture of the butter depends upon the changes of temperature brought about during the ripening process. To get a good firm texture in the butter it is necessary that the cream be subjected to a temperature below 50 degrees F. for several hours some time during the ripening. Butter makers differ as to the best time to hold cream at this low temperature. Some hold that it should be cooled immediately after separation to below 50 degrees F. and held at this temperature. Others claim that the best plan is to hold the cream at a temperature favorable for the growth of lactic acid germs (75 to 80 degrees F.) until the cream contains the required amount of acidity for churning and then cool to below 50 degrees F. and hold until ready to be churned.

Food Value of Timothy.

The fact that it cures easily and quickly, is free from dust and is clean and rarely attached by molds has rendered timothy a favorite with horse-men, and in consequence it has been assumed to be an equally valuable food for cows, says F. G. S. in Hoard's Dairyman. The comparatively small yield and the city demand have driven the price up till a ton of timothy costs nearly as much as a ton of bran, while its feeding value is only about one-fourth as much.

Cure For Garget.

Mix two ounces campho phenique and six ounces of olive oil. Apply three times a day, after milking. Cut down her feed for a short time and keep in a dark stable during the day, where she will not have to fight flies.—Kansas Farmer.

A Physician Testifies.

"I have taken Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and have never used anything in my life that did me the good that did," says County Physician Geo. W. Seroggs of Hall County, Ga. "Being a physician I have prescribed it and found it to give the best results." If the food you eat remains undigested in your stomach it decays there and poisons the system. You can prevent this by dieting but that means starvation. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. You need suffer from neither dyspepsia nor starvation. The worst cases quickly cured. Never fails. L. Kramer.

RABBIT ROUND-UP.

In Which More Than 40,000 of the Pest Were Killed.

The annual after-harvest rabbit roundup has just taken place in the San Joaquin valley, near Fresno, says a dispatch from Los Angeles, Cal.

Running down through the heart of the state of California for a distance of 500 miles is a plain from 50 to 60 miles in width. This plain is the most fertile region in the great West. It contains 5,000,000 acres of the best wheat land in the world. It produces thousands of tons of raisins yearly, to say nothing of numerous other fruits, grains and vegetables. It is a close second to the Garden of Eden, and like that garden has in its midst a disturber. It was the serpent which made trouble in that ancient garden. It is the Lepus Californicus in this case—in other words, the common jack rabbit.

What it costs the ranchers of the San Joaquin valley to keep the pestiferous little animal from starvation is hard to estimate. The ranchers claim that each animal will eat and destroy not less than half a dollar's worth of vegetation. As there are millions of these lively little fellows in the valley the sum total is simply appalling.

The annual hunt is timed just after harvest, as then the fields are clear of vegetation and the rabbits are more easily started, and also, damage to the crops by the passing of the hunter is avoided. The jack rabbit does not burrow, but builds him a shack of vegetation, in which he squats when not out satisfying his voracious appetite. It is, therefore, a comparatively easy task to drum Master Rabbit out for the slaughter.

The date for the hunt is set fully three months in advance, and when the time arrives there gather several hundred sportsmen and sportswomen from all parts of the state. At the recent roundup fully 2,000 individuals took part. The hunt was conducted under the direction of 150 rancheros, who acted as guides and marshals for the army of men and women who arrived on the scene.

In the midst of the plain, a few miles from the city of Fresno, had been built of wire a circular inclosure, from the one narrow gate of which radiated two long wire wings. From each of these wings, running diagonally from the gateway, were formed lines of hunters, some on foot, others mounted on horses and still others riding in carriages, the lines being a little more than fifteen miles in length.

From the points of these lines was run a third line, forming the base of a triangle, the point of which was the wire inclosure. No other weapons than clubs and horns were allowed.

When all was in readiness the starter blew a blast upon his horn, the signal was passed from horn to horn along the 45 or 50 miles of hunters' line and the army began to move. With shouts and beating of foliage, with clubs and tooting of horns, they pass along, starting here and there the game they sought till the lines had narrowed about an enclosure of a few acres, when thousands of frightened rabbits could be observed.

As the lines shortened up those on foot formed a solid phalanx in front, while behind was another solid phalanx of vehicles and horse riders. It was now that the chase became exciting, for the little animals made frequent dashes for liberty straight at the legs of the hunters, who often became excited, and, despite the efforts of the marshals, broke lines sufficiently to permit hundreds of rabbits to escape. At last the lines closed in at the gate and the last rabbit entered its portals and the gate closed, shutting him forever away from liberty and life.

Then the slaughter began. The 150 rancheros entered with their clubs and beat to death the 40,000 animals gathered in the roundup. It was a pitiful sight; one which was gazed upon, however, unflinchingly by nearly every one of the 2,000 men and women who had taken part in the hunt.

The little rabbits, endowed by nature with no means of defense, rushed to and fro in the pen, or else cringed at the feet of the destroyers, uttering pitiful cries, not unlike the wailings of an infant. The rancheros, however, think of the depredations committed by these same rabbits, were merciless, and in a comparatively short time there remained not one alive. Then huge shears were passed into the pen and bunnies were bereft of its ears, for every pair of ears, representing one dead rabbit, brings one-half cent bounty at Sacramento.

When it is all over the thousands of carcasses are spread upon the great wheat fields, and bunnies are plowed under to help enrich the land he has recently been ravishing.

CORNHOUSE AND GRANARY.

A neat and useful combination building for the farm.

The accompanying illustrations from The Ohio Farmer convey an idea of an improved cornhouse and granary which is described as follows:

The corncrib and grain bins may be made self discharging without opening any part of the upper portion or without the use of a ladder or steps by placing floor joists at an angle as shown by dotted lines.

The projecting part of the floor is made the bottom of the bins and corncrib that is built upon it and is left open on the side next to the corncrib and grain bins, so that the corn will slide into it. A cover may be hinged to the box so that it may be turned up when grain is taken out.

If one wishes to use a shovel for corn or grain, the opening into the bin or crib may be closed for a space of two feet either in the middle or at each end. At the closed places there will be no grain or corn upon the floor of the box. It will be easy to shovel out the corn or grain.

Fig. 1 represents a section of the frame. Fig. 2 is the floor plan and Fig. 3 the end elevation.

Dimensions—28 feet long by 28 feet wide; height, 12 feet to plate line; driveway, 9 feet wide.

The building is designed to have a stone foundation, and the exterior is covered with seven-eighths inch drop siding. There are a neat but plain cornice, shingled roof and rolling doors. This will make a useful building and just what is wanted on a well arranged farm.

WINTER WHEAT GROWING.

Early Plowing the Great Requisite.

Falling This, Use the Disk Harrow.

Growing wheat has not been as profitable for some farmers as other kinds of crops that could be grown at less expense. There is a feeling that any man can grow corn, but that it takes some skill and a great deal of high priced help and machinery to produce a crop of wheat.

Winter wheat is encroaching on new territory every year. Some good farmer who is careful, painstaking and progressive will bring in some new variety and will be successful in growing this cereal. Others will follow, some of whom will not be successful.

Neglecting to plow the ground early so that the soil will get thoroughly settled and compact is perhaps the cause of more complete failures than any other. Sometimes it is impossible for lack of moisture to plow ground at all when it should be done.

Where it is impossible to plow ground soon after harvest we would suggest running over clean stubble two or three times with a disk harrow, keeping up a general pulverization with whatever tool that will perform the work until the time for drilling. We would then drill the wheat, says Iowa Homestead. We are inclined to the opinion that this preparation will make a better seed bed than where plowing is done late and the grain drilled in freshly plowed ground with insufficient preparation.

Where it is possible to plow early it will give one and a half or two months from the time of plowing until drilling time.

Latitude and the presence of insect enemies will largely suggest the time of drilling wheat. This time varies from the second week in September until the middle of October.

Irrigation For Grass Land.

Irrigation for grass land should receive very much more attention in this part of the country. This could be adopted here as well as in the western country if the diversion of streams of some considerable size to a certain extent could be accomplished without interfering with manufacturers' rights. Capital would play an important part here, says a Massachusetts farmer in American Agriculturist.

WHEN TO CUT CORN.

How to Use It to Best Advantage.

Cutting and Shocking.

An unusually large amount of corn will be cut this fall. The shortage of pasture made it necessary for many farmers to begin feeding in July. This long season will require an immense amount of forage, and as corn will be exceedingly scarce farmers will depend more than usual upon the fodder crop to carry their animals through. As a general rule, green fodder, particularly this year, is more valuable fed directly after cutting than at any other time if it is sufficiently mature to make good forage. In view of all this The American Agriculturist advises as follows:

The wise farmer therefore will utilize his corn crop to the best advantage. If he has stock that can be fattened on the whole corn plant before frost or at any rate partly fattened before that time, he will cut his corn now and feed it at once. If he can get his cattle or sheep to market before frost comes, they will be more profitable than if he simply keeps them in good flesh, cuts and cures his corn and attempts to fatten them this winter when they are a little older.

Where corn is intended for fodder it should be allowed to mature fairly well before cutting is started. However, if a great deal is to be taken care of by cutting when it is still on the green order. Cut about one-half a shock, allow to cure a day or two, then cut the remainder. This will result in a fodder highly digestible, although not quite so heavy as it would have been had it remained uncut a week or so longer. If possible, the cutting should be delayed until the lower blades have died and the kernels are well denting. In other words, it should be well advanced in the dough stage.

The size of the shock will of course depend upon the character of the corn and somewhat upon the practice in the locality. In the central west shocks sixteen hills square seem to be favorites, but farther east smaller shocks, ranging all the way from eight to twelve hills square, are most common. This year the corn is short and can be handled very easily with a corn binder.

GATHERING SUGAR BEETS.

The Effect of New Fall Growth on the Sugar Content.

The time of harvesting sugar beets is governed by the time of the ripening of the beets. This ripening is made apparent by the outside leaves of the plant taking on a yellowish tinge and drooping to the ground. An experienced eye soon learns to detect a field of ripe beets that is ready for harvesting, the whole field being colored to this yellow tint and the leaves showing this drooping tendency peculiar to the matured plant. The beets have now finished their work, and the next step of the grower must be governed by his locality. If he is in a locality where there is a probability of rain, the beets must be harvested and placed in silos. This would be the case in most of the sections where rain conditions prevail, such places usually having strong rains in September and October, followed by more or less warm days. The effect of the rain will be to cause the beets to begin growing again, and new leaves will soon be noticed starting out, as well as new lateral roots from the beet in the soil. All the beets showing a general tendency to a second growth. Serious damage to the crop will soon be done in this way. The sugar content of the beet goes down materially, and its impurities increase, so that if the rains are marked and followed by warm days it is possible for a whole crop to be lost, so far as their fitness for factory purposes is concerned.

Root Storage.

Where there is no barn cellar for the storing of roots a place such as is shown in the cut from The Farm Journal can be extemporized by double boarding a boxlike space at the side of the barn floor in the hay bay. This place should extend down to the ground, cutting through the floor of the bay, and double the space below.

Use cedarboards for the lower part and bank the earth well about them on the outside. Leave an air space between the boarding and do the same with the front that shows in the cut. Bank the outside of the barn if the underpinning is open.

A PLACE FOR ROOTS.

News and Notes.

Farms are getting smaller; the average size in 1850 was 203 acres; in 1890, 137 acres.

Missouri entomologists strongly assert that moth catchers or lantern traps do more harm than good in orchards, as they catch more friends than enemies of the fruit grower.

Through fire, the foremost enemy of the forests of North America, and through the irrational lumbering practiced by many, the destruction of the forest cover of the United States goes on.

The potato crop is thus far very short. Potatoes are likely to be scarce and dear unless the later crop shows up unexpectedly well.

Rape may be fed to best advantage in the early fall, and hence is of valuable assistance in fattening lambs for the fall or early winter.

Indian Runner ducks are attaining a good degree of favor just now among fanciers and by them are recommended to farmers and other practical folks on account of their great prolificacy, says Farm Journal. They are bright, trim, active little creatures and are said to have great ability to take care of themselves.

SLAIN BY THE BOERS

REAR GUARD OF THE BRITISH ARMY IS BADLY CUT UP.

Colonel Benson, Commanding the Main Column, Is Killed.—Transvaal Troops Capture Two Guns.—Nine Officers Lost and Many Badly Injured.—Loss on Burger's Side Reported to Be Large.

London, Nov. 4, 4 a.m.—Lord Kitchener has reported to the war office a disaster to the British near Bethel, eastern Transvaal, in which two guns were lost, several officers killed or wounded and fifty-four men were killed and 160 wounded.

"I have just heard of a severe attack made on the rear guard of Colonel Benson's column when about twenty miles northwest of Bethel, near Brokenlaagte, during a thick mist.

"The strength of the enemy is reported to have been 1,000. They rushed two guns with the rear guard, but it is uncertain whether they were able to remove them.

"I fear our casualties were heavy. Colonel Benson was wounded, but not severely. A relieving column will reach him this morning."

Relief Comes too Late.

Later Lord Kitchener telegraphed as follows:

"Colonel Barter, who marched from the constabulary line yesterday, reached Benson's column early this morning (Friday) unopposed. He reports that Colonel Benson died of his wounds.

"The other casualties are the following:

"Killed—Colonel E. Guinness, Major F. D. Murray, Captains M. W. Lindsay and F. T. Thorould, Lieutenants E. V. I. Brooks and R. E. Shephard and Second Lieutenant A. J. Corlett. Died of his wounds—Captain Eyre Loud."

Lord Kitchener then gives the names of thirteen other officers who were wounded most of them severely, and announces that fifty-four noncommissioned officers and men were killed and 160 wounded, adding that four of the latter have since died of their wounds. The dispatch then says:

"I assume that the two guns have been recovered and the enemy has withdrawn, but I have no further details.

"I deeply regret the loss of Colonel Benson and the other officers and men who fell with him. In Benson the service loses a most gallant and capable officer who invariably led his column with marked success and judgment.

"The fighting was at very close quarters and maintained with determination by both sides. The enemy suffered heavily, but I have not yet received a reliable estimate.

"The boers retired east."

Date Is Not Given.

Colonel Benson had been for some time operating in the vicinity of Bethel, which is northeast of Standerton. He surprised a boer laager Oct. 22 near Trichardsfontein, taking thirty-seven prisoners. Three days later, according to Lord Kitchener's report at the time, after a long night march the commandoes under Grobelaar and Erasmus "heavily attacked Benson's rear guard and tanks at Yzirvarkfontein, but were easily driven away."

Whether this was the attack which resulted so disastrously or whether the boers who had been repulsed took advantage of the mist to renew the attack is still unexplained. Lord Kitchener does not give the date of the Bethel engagement.

May Appeal to Powers.

Amsterdam, Nov. 4.—The boer deputations here summoned Messrs. Leyds and Van Boeschoten by telegraph yesterday from Brussels to consider dispatches received from boer leaders in the field saying that the fighting burghers were determined to make reprisals if the British continued hanging and shooting rebels. Other dispatches are to the effect that the boer authorities in south Africa affirm that the adoption of reprisals would be bad policy, and that in order to strengthen their position they request Mr. Kruger to let them know his opinion, as he still has the greatest hold on the minds of the burghers. The meeting lasted four hours, and it was decided to advise Mr. Kruger to comply with the request of the boer authorities and to take the opportunity to bring the subject of British executions in south Africa before the European public in an open letter.

Dr. Leyds has gone to Hilversum to present the matter to Mr. Kruger.
